PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams' (an Indian remedy) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: "I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment."

For sale by George T. Wood or mailed on receipt of price, $1.

Skin Diseases Cured

By Dr. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cure as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.

F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases ever discovered.

Sent by mail on receipt of price, fifty cents

For blind, bleeding, itching or ulcerated piles. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is a sure cure. Price $1, by mail. For sale by George T. Wood, druggist.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: "I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings."

A STRANGE METAMORPHOSIS.

'Twas the thirty-first December,
As I very well remember;
For that date to me will never be a common one,
When, at certain inconvenience,
I had the comical experience
Of the following remarkable phenomenon:

'Twas a merry Christmas party,
And our welcome had been hearty;
We had lots of fun, and lots of friends to share it;
Lots of skating on real ice,
Lots of everything that's nice,
And lots of kind injunctions not to spare it.

Well! the fun was at its thickest,
And the evening going quickest,
With pantomime, and conjurers, and mummers;
When suddenly the season,
Without any rhyme or reason,
Plunged straight into the broilingest of summers.

And it kept on getting hotter,
Till the brain began to totter,
And a shudder 'gan to run through all creation;
And the gravest of our "mollahs,"
Lost the starch out of their collars,
In a burst of universal perspiration.

The ice upon the Serpentine;
Went darning up like turpentine;
The snow was all a frizzle in the gutter;
The hams boiled on their pegs,
The hens laid hard boiled eggs,
And the cows, instead of milk, gave melted butter.

The poor sheep had their fleeces
Singed entirely to pieces,
And ran about on roasted legs of mutton;
While the papers kept assuring us
We should have to go in partibus,
For nothing else was thin enough to put on.

Even froggy wasn't cool,
For he sizzled in his pool,
And wondered what the dickens was the matter,
And the pretty little fishes
Very much against their wishes
Got fried without a particle of batter.

The night was turned to day,
The grass was turned to hay,
And everything turned topsy-turvy altogether;
For the clerk who those things sees about,
Had been and left his keys about,
And somebody'd got fooling with the weather.

Then I heard all nature cry out,
Jumped up to put the sky out,
And fell upon the floor in my hurry!
When the partner of my cares and joys
Said, "Good gracious! what a noise!"
"Charles, I told you not to eat that lobster curry!"

A Nation in Mourning.

The Siamese Nation was recently plunged into mourning by the death of "His Sublime Grandeur the Court and Body Elephant of the King." Says the Indian Herald: "We regret to learn that the animal departed this life in a highly sensational manner, fraught with irreparable disaster to the staff of his household. One morning, after a hearty breakfast, he went mad quite unexpectedly, and trampled five of his attendants to death. To shoot him would have been sacrilege. An attempt to tranquillize his perturbed spirit by encircling him with a huge ring of holy bamboo, specially blessed by the Holy Priest of his own particular temple, proved worse than ineffectual, for he broke through the ring and all but terminated the High Priest's career upon the spot. He was then with great difficulty driven into a close court of the palace, where, after several furious endeavors to batter down the walls with his tusks, he suddenly toppled over on his side, and uttered a last cry of rage. Naturally enough this heavy calamity was attributed to criminal carelessness on the part of one or other of the attendants intrusted with the sacred elephant's feeding. The King thereupon interrogated the members of His Sublime Grandeur's household in person with respect to their treatment of the illustrious deceased, and failing to elicit any individual confession of delinquency, decreed that they should one and all be punished. Having thus vindicated propriety, his Majesty assumed the garb of woe, and is understood to be still inconsolable for his loss."—New York Tribune.

AN UP-COUNTRY man bought a Roman candle and lighted it to go to bed by. He said you can bet your sweet life he'll ick the man that loaded it, if he can find him out.

The Morality of Failing.

It is better to be robbed than to be a robber. And sometimes it is better to fail than to succeed. This thing called failure is not such a fearful thing as the prosperous world would suggest it to be. Failure is only lesser success. All men can not organize a triumph. Defeat is the fate of many. The only successful failures are the ones that are honestly made. When a man's judgment has miscarried and brought him a wrong issue, he is not to be outlawed for it. When the misfortunes or "cussedness" of others drive him into defeat, there is no reason why he should be hated. The world will have charity for the failure where it has been inevitable and honest. It hates a sham failure even worse than does a sham success. There is one feature connected with failures practiced by nearly all failing concerns, but that does not make it any less objectionable. We refer to the custom, so universal with all failing firms and institutions, of preferring wealthy creditors. The question naturally comes up: Why should they be preferred? When a mercantile house fails, it usually prefers its banker, and fixes everything up with him, so that he is no loser. When a bank fails, it has been observed, that it always prefers its large, rich creditors. This system is corrupt in morals, and manifests a contemptuous deference to wealth that is humiliating. Why should any failing concern prefer the wealthy over the poor? Every settlement should be promoted as a matter of justice, but if any leniency or favors are to be shown, they should be extended to the poor. The rich can sustain their loss. They have other resources and larger opportunities; but the poor have the last prop taken, and know not where to look for another. Why should large creditors be satisfied first of all? The world has got all wrong on this business transaction. If it intends to be honest and just, it must turn around. Public opinion must make it unpopular, because it is wrong for banks and merchants to shield and favor the rich and powerful, while they oppress the poor and the weak. How much better it would appear if the bank had treated all of its customers alike. Let the wealthy stand in with the poor and take their chances. The wealthy man who has divided his money, placing a parcel in one bank and some in another, can recover the loss of one division of his wealth far better than the needy man, or the poor widow, who do not have enough to parcel out, but must trust all in one venture, and if they lose there, they lose all. If any class of debtors are to be preferred, common honesty would suggest that it should be the ones least able to meet losses. Of this class are the poor. Any other payment than on a pro rata basis is unjust and unfair to them. In the matter of settling with creditors there is room for an improvement in the morality of failures.—Indianapolis Herald.

Sanitary Item.

"You are looking bad," remarked Snowberger to Colonel Percy Yerber. "What's the matter?"

"The doctor says my lungs are affected and that I must not take more than three drinks a day."

"I would try some other doctor."

"I did, and he said the same thing."

"Well, then, it each one of them said you could take three drinks a day, that makes six drinks."

"I never thought of that before. I'll see the rest of the doctors in Austin, and if they all say I can take three drinks a day, that will make about sixty drinks a day, and that is as much as is good for an invalid."—Texas Siftings.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce JAMES P. HARBESON, of Fleming county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Democracy in convention assembled.

The first steam engine used in Harrison county, was operated by W. P. Diltz, of Augusta.

OUTSIDE of the republican party Jacob voters are few and far between in this neighborhood.

The election of Judge Wall as Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee is a merited compliment to that gentleman. No better selection could have been made.

The convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for Judge of the Superior Court in this district, will be held in Lexington to-day. The Hon. Richard Reid, of Montgomery county, will go into the convention with more than enough instructed votes to nominate.

A DEMOCRAT who has lately visited nearly all the precincts in the county says that Mr. Dennis Fitzgerald, the Democratic candidate for jailer, will receive the full party vote, and will go into office with a handsome majority. He is a good man and is worthy of the support he will receive.

MR. C. P. HUNTINGTON and other capitalists interested in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad have bought a controlling interest in the United States and Brazil Mail Steamship Line. The steamers will make connection with the Chesapeake and Ohio road at Newport News. This arrangement places Maysville in direct communication with Brazil where our manufactures are now sold and have been for years past.

The new army bill which has just passed the House of Representatives provides that an officer who has served thirty-five years either as an officer or in the ranks in the regular or volunteer service, shall on application to the president be placed on the retired list; and when he has served forty years under the same conditions, or is sixty-four years of age, his retirement shall be compulsory. The law takes effect December 1st, 1882. Twenty-three officers will then be retired under the sixty-four years provision, including Surgeon General Barnes and Major General McDowell. Among those spared for a year or two are Gen. Sherman, Quartermaster General Ingalls and General George W. Getty.

The New York Herald on the subject of political assessments, says: How terribly in earnest the party in power has become in its efforts to "save the Union" may be imagined by the report published yesterday that even the little pages of Congress had been assessed ten dollars each in order to help the glorious work along. It has been said that the great Napoleon so exhausted the fighting stock of France that when raising troops for his latter campaigns he spared neither the cradle nor the grave, and the party of moral ideas seems to be in the same condition. It has assessed everybody else that it could force to the point of payment; if now it has been compelled to pick the pockets of small boys it ought to see that the time has come to drop campaigns that are fought with money and try one fight at least on principle.

THE news from the army worm in this county grows worse. In some fields where it has been at work the grain is not worth the labor of harvesting. As yet the planters have found no effective way of stopping its ravages.

THE improvement of Messrs. George Cox & Son's business house began on Monday. It is to have a pressed brick front and is to be considerably enlarged. It will be, when completed, one of the handsomest buildings in the city.

THE lower ferry landing and the rights attached will be offered at public sale by the Power heirs, on Saturday, July 1st. It is one of the best sites for a ferry on the river and will no doubt meet with a ready sale. Two town lots on Main street, Aberdeen, will be sold at the same time.

The Grayson Gazette says:

There is no gentleman who visits the counties of Boyd, Carter, Greenup, Lawrence etc., who is more warmly welcomed or gladly received than Col. Frank S. Owens, of the popular and extensive hardware house of Owens & Barkley, Maysville, Ky. His personal friends are to be found everywhere among the business men in Eastern Kentucky. We have known Frank Owens from the days of his earliest manhood, and can testify that he is now and has ever been a true, high-minded, honorable gentleman. Talk about the milk of human kindness! Why there is more of it in the breast of Frank Owens than can be found in a brigade of ordinary men. He furnished about six gallons a day of that kind of milk while here last week. After a successful visit to this place, Olive Hill, Willard and Mt. Savage, the Colonel left for home, by way of Ashland, Saturday morning.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS IN LEWIS COUNTY—VICTORY IN ADVANCE.

Hon. Rufus Emmons, Former Republican Representative of Lewis County, Chairman of a Democratic Convention—Dr. W. H. Campbell, Formerly U. S. Surgeon and Recently U. S. Examining Surgeon of this Congressional District, Secretary of the Meeting and Afterwards Nominated by the Democratic Convention for Coroner. Radical Bossism and Third Termism Wiped out. Look at the Ticket—Experience Integrity and Capacity.

The Democratic nominations were made this day, June 12th, by sober, disinterested and solid men of Lewis county, who have named Judge J. R. Garland as their choice for Judge. He was a mail rider when a boy from Maysville to Greenup. He was sheriff, a Judge for two terms and is a wool dyed Democrat. W. C. Halbert Jr., was nominated for County Attorney. He is an educated gentleman of industrious habits and is the soul of honor. He is 24 years old.

For clerk a better man could not have been chosen—Robert Wilson, of Wilson's Bottom. He holds the highest certificates from the clerks of Mason county as to his qualifications for the place. He is a native of Lewis, has no bad habits, is a cultivated gentleman. He is opposed to life terms in office and is in favor of giving the sons of the soil a chance. His age is twenty-six. Remembering Bud Wilson's treatment by the bosses when he was a candidate, Bob, his brother comes in to make a settlement and will win.

Sam L. Hull received the nomination for sheriff. He was born in Fleming county, reared in Lewis, and is generous, gifted and courageous. He is thirty-six years of age, a christian by deed and profession and a brother to our present worthy state representative. The finances of Lewis will be safe under his care.

W. G. Bullock, the present deputy sheriff, thirty-six years old, of Kentucky stock—known throughout the length and breadth of the state, accepted the nomination for assessor. He is a modest man of large brain and fine head-line, experience, integrity and capacity.

Roland Thomas, son of Harry P. Thomas, a native of Lewis, a sterling Democrat, trustworthy and vigilant, received the nomination for Jailor. The Democracy might have searched the state over and they would not have found a better man for the place.

The contest for coroner was earnestly made. After many ballots Dr. W. Campbell an excellent physician and surgeon received the nomination.

For the office of surveyor there being no opposition Peter Mawr was renominated.

This closed a large, enthusiastic and interesting meeting of the Democracy of Lewis.

THE regulators of Adams county, Ohio, are holding meetings every night. We are informed that it is there intention to rid the county of violators of the law of every shade, and to do it immediately.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court, since our last report:

C. B. Pearce and others to the State National Bank of Maysville, 33x51 feet on north-west corner, of Court street, where it joins Second street, consideration, $25,000.

J. R. Wilson and wife to Evan Lloyd sixteen acres three rods and twenty-seven poles of land near Germantown, consideration, $1,691.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. George W. Hale, agent for the Cincinnati Penny Paper, was in Maysville Tuesday in the interest of that enterprising journal.

Mr. M. J. O'Neil, of Manchester, is in the city.

Captain Perry Fyffe, of the Kentucky Military Institute, is visiting his relatives in this county.

Call.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., June 14th, 1882.

Mr. E. T. Hancock: Knowing your fitness for the place, your gentlemanly and urbane manner, your honesty and integrity, and believing that you will discharge the duties of the office with satisfaction to the public, we earnestly request that you will consent to become a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, for Maysville precinct No. 1, at the coming August election.

MANY FRIENDS.

THE Master Commissioner on last Monday, sold two hundred and sixty-four feet front of ground on the south-side of Fourth street belonging to the estate of the late Patterson Poyntz, for Fifteen hundred dollars. Mrs. Dr. John P. Phister, one of the heirs became the lucky purchaser. This ground is susceptible of being subdivided into sixteen beautiful building lots, each with a frontage on Fourth and Grant streets of thirty-three feet. Eight of these lots would readily sell for three hundred dollars a piece and the eight fronting on Grant street, for two hundred dollars each, giving the handsome profit of twenty-five hundred dollars on a fifteen hundred dollar investment. This can be easily done as these lots are in demand.

General Forrest. American Register.

A correspondent tells us: I was with Lieutenant General Forrest, the greatest natural soldier the war produced in my modest opinion, when a youthful staff officer rode up and excitedly announced:

"General, a strong Yankee force is in our rear!"

"What the h—l's the difference," responded Forrest, "when we turn round won't we be on their rear?"

"Forrest never read a book in his life. I have seen," continues the correspondent, "an order addressed by Forrest to Colonel Starnes on the field at Murfreesboro. Forrest wrote it in pencil on the pommel of his saddle. Its words were: 'Starnes, fetch up them guns. Give 'em hell.'" Forrest had seventeen horses killed under him during the war.

COUNTY POINTS.

MURPHYSVILLE.

Mrs. David Wells returned home Saturday evening, after spending an exceedingly pleasant week in Dover, among her relatives and friends.

Misses Lizzie Wood and Aggie Clift are visiting in our town.

The army worm has not yet made its appearance in our vicinity, but we are fearful that it will come as we hear of its being in so many other localities.

R. C. Bland sold a lot of cattle on Monday, to David Glascock at 4 1/4 per pound.

Miss Annie Gullifole, from Ireland, was visiting the family of James Gullifole, last week.

Miss Annie Fleming was immersed here on last Sunday morning. After impressive preliminary services at the water's edge, the rite of baptism was performed by Rev. Thomas Hanford.

Our music teacher and myself spent Saturday and Sunday very pleasantly with the family of John Stevenson and while there, we met Mr. and Mrs. Jaquith of Maysville, whom we found to be quite an interesting elderly couple.

M. E. P.

Mrs. Julia A. Tevis.

Do not let the movement to erect a monument to the late Mrs. Julia A. Tevis delay any longer. It ought to be done with spontaneity and promptness. If every home that has been brightened and blessed, directly or indirectly, by the influence of this christian teacher, would send a contribution, a monument would be placed above her sleeping dust at Shelbyville, Ky., that would be worthy of the beloved dead, and a credit to the living beneficiaries of her toil. Let there be no farther delay in this matter. Let every former pupil of Science Hill and all old friends of dear Mrs. Tevis, who read this respond at once and liberally. Remit to Miss EMMA OWEN, Treasurer, Shelbyville, Ky.

MARRIED.

June 13th, 1882, at the residence of Rev J. E. Briney, Miss MARY S. ROSENDALL to Mr. S. P. CAMPBELL, all of Mason county, Ky.

Editorial Excursions.

While the editorial buzzards are on the wing, and are scenting the trail of a free excursion to gather up journalistic glory, the real toilers of the field remain at home and solicit job work and subscriptions to furnish food and flannel for the children.—Ex.

There is an astonishingly large percentage of solid truth in the foregoing few lines from an unidentified exchange. As a general thing, when an editorial excursion, or raid, is made on the unfortunate inhabitants of a neighboring State, the editor himself, for the reasons so concisely given above, is unable to march in the procession, but he enjoys the excursion all the same. In fact, the editor who stays at home derives a great deal more solid comfort from the excursion than the editor who goes along with the mob. This may sound strange, but it is the truth, the whole truth, and we can prove it. We assert that the editor who stays at home, molding public opinion, and otherwise providing for his family, extracts more real enjoyment out of an excursion than the editor who bums over the country with the alleged excursionists, guzzling free beer, smoking free cigars, eating free meals, and having a free and easy time of it generally. We can prove what we say.

Every editorial sanctum—and by the way there are no sanctums but editorial sanctums—every editorial sanctum in the United States is infested by a so-called friend of the paper. He is a combination of the exchange fiend and the confidential bore. Every morning he drops in, hangs his feet up on the table where the exchanges are, and after he has stored his mind with useful newspaper lore, he tells the editor, confidentially, that his last week's paper was very poor; that some patrons of the paper think it was the poorest paper the editor has gotten out yet, and then he proceeds to inform the editor how the defect can be remedied. He winds up his candid criticism by telling the editor that he would not talk to him that way if he was not a friend to the paper. There are some kind of bores that can be gotten rid of, but the candid friend of the paper cannot be shaken off any more than if he was a seed tick.

Now, when the editorial excursion mania becomes epidemic, the editor takes the friend of the paper aside, and says: "I have a personal favor to ask of you. You need a rest. You are overworked. I do not care to go on this editorial excursion, but I will give you my ticket, and you go along, and represent the paper." The eyes of the combined exchange fiend, confidential bore, and candid friend of the paper, fairly sparkle with delight. He promises, with tears in his eyes, to faithfully represent the paper on the excursion, and he keeps his promise with a fidelity that excites admiration, or rather awe, whenever he has an opportunity to eat or drink. During his absence, the real editor at home, in his sanctum, enjoys a most refreshing season of unalloyed bliss. His exchanges are never interfered with, and he is not reminded that his editorials are becoming poorer and poorer every issue. It will be admitted that, by staying at home, the editor has enjoyed the excursion much more than if he had actually accompanied the raiders, because they, the raiders, or excursionists, are nearly all substitutes, similar to the one we have described. Two-thirds of the editors have sent the sanctum bore to represent them, hence, if the editor in question had gone on the excursion, he would have been in the company, day and night, of thirty or forty of the most objectionable deadbeats in the State. Looked at from this standpoint, editorial excursions are a perfect godsend to the editors, as it enables them to get rid, temporarily at least, of the objectionable devil-fish that infest almost every sanctum, and who saps the humor and energy out of some of the best and brightest intellects of the press.—Texas Siftings.

When Munkacsy, the great Hungarian artist, was recently being entertained by his enthusiastic countrymen, the Abbe Liszt asked him whether he played on any instrument, and the artist began to whistle, whereupon he was mounted on a chair while he whistled a Hungarian national air. Men applauded, women wept, and Liszt affectionately wrapped him in his arms.

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

THE CHEAPEST AND THE BEST. THE ONLY PRACTICAL CASE.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete 65 Cents.

Farmer's No. 1, 15 doz. Case with Fillers complete, 55 Cents.

Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.

Batchelder's Egg Tester, testing 6 doz.
at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.

The 15 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,
